

Biography

Minoru Fujishima received his Ph.D. from the University of Tokyo in 1993 and was a visiting professor at the Catholic University of Leuven in Belgium (1998-2000). He was a research associate, lecturer, and associate professor at the University of Tokyo, and is currently a professor at the Graduate School of Advanced Science and Engineering, Hiroshima University. He is a fellow of the IEICE. He was secretary (1997-1999), vice-chair (2013-2015), and chair of the committee (2015-2017) of the technical committee on integrated circuits and devices (ICD), and general secretary of the Electronics Society (2007-2008), chair of the circuit and device boundary technology area committee (2016-2017), vice president of the Electronics Society (in charge of editorial publishing) (2019-2020). He received Electronics Society Award (2012).

Past Lectures

2011-2012 SSCS IEEE distinguished lecturer

2020 IEICE Society Conference Electronics Society Special Lecture
(<https://webinar.ieice.org/summary.php?id=162>)

Many other keynote lectures, invited lectures, tutorial lectures